To whom it may concern:

My name is Xurxo Legaspi, and I am writing to express my interest in any software development related job that I could fit. I really like learning new technologies and facing challenges that let me grow as developer.

I am a creative engineer with skills and competence in a wide range of technologies who really enjoys developing, designing and implementing many kind of applications and websites. I am a communicative person who likes to work within a team that uses agile methodologies, where I could contribute and learn from the different coworkers.

As shown in my CV, my background is quite diverse, as I have been studying a 5-year degree in Telecommunications in Spain, as well as a 3-year degree in Computer Sciences and some Master courses in Sweden, combined with some short working involvements as internships both in Sweden and Spain. From this experience, I have acquired high and fast adaptability skills, working with different technologies, team structures and cultures, as well as environments with tight deadlines to meet.

I would really like to work in a company with elevated expectations and working with cutting-edge technologies, where I could both contribute with my own knowledge and experience and learn from the team and company itself. I find stimulating to be challenged with new problems and to find innovative and efficient solutions.

On my spare time I like to play basketball with some friends, as well as hiking and traveling all around the globe. Music is also one of my weaknesses and I can't live without a guitar at home. I also follow every news concerning technology, more specifically computers and mobile phones.

Best regards,

Xurxo Legaspi
